

Required Wage Notices

Some states legally mandate that employers provide a wage notice to new hires. This notice provides detailed information on the new hire's wages. When entering a new hire in a state that requires these notifications, you will be prompted to answer additional questions to compile this notice. The new hire is presented with a copy of the notice to review and sign as a part of their onboarding process. The notice will automatically save in the Employee Documents (EE-ER) folder in PeopleHub.

The states below require these wage notices. Click on any state name below to view a sample of that state's notice.
